

Note taking Apps at a Glance

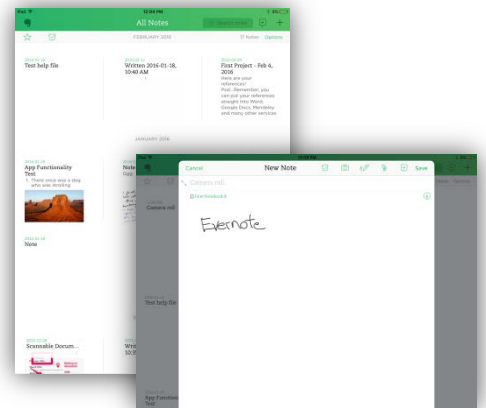

OneNote is a great multipurpose note taking app with several input methods, great organizational features, and searchable notes. The app has several accessibility options including Office Lens scanner with OCR. Markup PDF files and images within your notes for added functionality.

Notability is a basic iOS note taking app with multiple input methods and basic formatting options. Notes are searchable and the app provides good organization features and provides a useful help file to get users up and running quickly.

Evernote works well as a straight note taking app which supports multiple input methods and allows you to search handwritten notes. PDF and image file markup within notes, along with tags and other features help keep your notes organized. The Getting Started Tour provides a great walk through of the app to get you up and running quickly.

SmartNote is a great note taking app for handwriting input and includes intuitive features and gestures to make writing simple. Drag and drop pages to rearrange them within your notebooks and easily search your handwritten notes.

