

Time Management Apps at Glance

myHomework is a great time management app for keeping track of your classes and homework. The free app provides most features and reminders sent to your phone or tablet make sure you never miss a deadline. Make an account to access your schedule across multiple devices or online through the myHomework website.

iStudiez is a very useful time management app for keeping track of your classes and homework. The simple design of the app makes it easy to use and to never miss a deadline. You can sync events or appointments from the native iOS calendar or others and add them to your iStudiez calendar. This app is not free but it is worth the purchase.

Pocket Schedule is a basic time management app that is free. You can keep track of your classes, homework and extracurricular activities as well with the task feature. With an account you can access your schedule on any device that has the app downloaded.

Spark (York U) is an online module run by York University. It provides access to time management tips and printable calendars to keep track of your weekly schedule. It also provides useful tools for avoiding procrastination and how to go about starting an assignment. This is for those who prefer paper and pen to touch screens.

